South West Academy of Sport Individual Athlete Scholarship Program

Background

Regional Western Australia has historically produced an array of extremely talented athletes across a wide range of sports. However, as the demands of elite performance become more and more complex, it is becoming apparent that both the Western Australian Institute of Sport (WAIS) and many state sporting associations (SSA) are finding it more and more difficult to cater to the regional talent development agenda.

To succeed at any given sport requires dedication and commitment. Historically, this has meant an enormous amount of travel or even relocation for the families of many young talented athletes in regional WA. This causes considerable disruption to family life and education at a critical time in young people's lives. Regional Academies of Sport are designed to minimize the travel requirements and allow an athlete to continue their sporting development within the stability of their regional community during their formative years (12-18).

The South West Academy of Sport (SWAS) has been formed for the purpose of assisting with the identification and sporting development of talented young athletes from across the South West of WA. The academy's primary objective is to provide opportunities for talented athletes to achieve excellence in sport with support from their home environment.

The academy will provide support to SW athletes via two programs: its partner sport programs and an individual athlete scholarship program. Athletes involved in either program will receive assistance with strength development, life skills, athlete career education and specialist coaching. The partner sport programs will be run in conjunction with the state association's development program and be delivered at venue facilities across the entire South West. The individual scholarship program will provide financial support to individual athletes to assist in meeting the costs of their development. It is estimated that between 150 and 200 young athletes will be directly assisted by the academy in its first year of operation.

Individual Athlete Scholarship Program

The key objective of the SWAS Individual Athlete Scholarship Program (IASP) is to assist talented athletes make the transition from a state to national and / or international level of competition by offsetting travel, training and competition costs associated with the sporting environment.

The IASP is an initiative of SWAS to support athletes competing in events not supported by the SWAS Sport Programs.

SWAS has allocated a budget of $80,000 towards up to 40 individual athlete scholarships. This may be increased to $100,000 and up to 50 individual scholarships in subsequent years.

The IASP will provide athletes with a 12 month scholarship for the period January to December. Scholarships will be selected annually and will be advertised in the month prior to the annual intake.
